BEAN MEAL FOR PIGS .- In England, on the continent, the practice prevails quite extensively, of feeding pigs and young swine on bean-meal. The beans are ground the same as corn or wheat with us. The Mark Lane Express says on this subject:

"A subscriber wishes us to inform him what is the best food for fattening pigs? I have myself tried nearly every description of food, and never have found anything to produce so much weight, or so fine meat, in a given time, as bean meal. Some pigs fed with food mixed with fine toppings, weighed at six months old, two hundred and eighty pounds, and the pork was allowed to be extremely tender. I last year tried to fatten hogs on grey peas alone, and giving them milk to drink. The animals took on fat rapidly, but did not acquire so great a weight as those fed on bean meal." The legumes are all of them excellent food for swine.

When peas and beans have got wet and mouldy to an extent which renders them unfit for culinary purposes, they should have scalding water poured over them, after being allowed to dry, be reduced to meal for swine. The action of hot water will at once remove fungi or mould, and render them suffi ciently sweet to ensure their being esten by the animals .- N. E. Farmer.

Poisonous Properties of Brine Brine, in which our meat or fish have been salted, is poisonous to domestic animals. If left in their way they will partake as freely of it as they will of OPERATION pure salt, when it very often proves fa-tal. dages of the latter

The Balsamic Cordial is entirely a Vegetable production, combining the healing properties of the Balsam, with the invigorating qualities of a Cordial, producing a combination so well adapted to the purposes intended, that there are but few cases of disease which will not, at an early period, succumb to its healing and life giving properties.

For ages, has the treatment of pulmonary diseases occupied the greater portion of the attention of the scientific of the medical world, but none acquired more eminence in his treatment of these diseases, than the celebrated Prussian Dr. Hoofland, the originator of the Balsamic Cordial. His life was devoted to the production of remedies that would stand unrivalled. How well he has succeeded, the American people are able to judge: and we positively assert, that no preparations that have ever been placed before them, have conferred the same amount of benefits on suffering humanity, or have elicited so many commendations from all classes of society, as the remedies of Dr. Hoofland, prepared by Dr. C. M. Jackson & Co., of Philadelphia.

The Cordial is designed for a class of diseases

The Cordial is designed for a class of diseases more general and more fatal than any other to which the people of this country are subject—those springing from a "slight cold." That eminent authority, Dr. Bell, says: "I will not say that Colds are to our inhabitants what the Plague and I clow Feer are to those of other countries; but I can aver confidently that they usher in disease of greater complicity and mortality than these latter."

And for the speedy cure of the following complaints:
Scrofula and Scrofulous Affections, such as Tumors, Ulcers, Sores, Eruptions, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boile, Blains, and all Skin Diseases.

J. C. Ayer & Co. Gents: I feel it my duty to asknowledge what your Sarsaparilla has done for me. Having inherited a Scrofulous infection, I have suffered from it in various ways for years. Sometimes it burst out in Ulcers on my hands and arms; sometimes it turned inward and distressed me at the stomach. Two years ago it broke out on my hend and covered my scalp and cars with one sore, which was painful and loathscome beyond description. I tried many medicines and several physicians, but without much relief from any thing. In fact, the disorder grew worse. At length I was rejoiced to read in the Gospel Messenger that you had prepared an alterative (Sarsaparilla), for I knew from your reputation that any thing you made must be good. I sent to Cincinnati and got it, and used it till it cured me. I took it, as you advise, in small doses of a tonspoonful over a menth, and used almost three bottles. New and healthy skin soon began to form under the scab, which after a while fell off. My skin is now clear, and I know by my feelings that the disease has gove from my system. You can well believe that I feel what I am saying when I tell you, that I hold you to be one of the apostles of the age, and remain ever gratefully. Yours.

Dr. J. C. Attra: Sir, I cheerfully comply with the request of your agent, and report to you some of the effects I have cared with your Sarsaparilla.

I have realized with your Sarsaparilla.

I have cared with it, in my practice, most of the complaints for which it is recommended, and have found its effects truly wonderful in the cure of Veneral and Mercural Disease. One of my patients had Syphillite ulcers in his throat, which were consuming his palate and the top of his mouth. Your Sarsaparilla, steadily taken, cured him in five weeks. Another was attacked by socondary symptoms in his nose, and the ulceration had eaten away a considerable part of it, so that I believe the disorder would soon reach his brain and kill him. But it yielded to my administration of your Sarsaparilla; it yielded to my administration of your Sarsaparilla; it yielded to my administration of your Sarsaparilla; it was made in the second of the weather that on a damp day she suffered excurded in the weather that on a damp day she suffered excurded in the weather that on a damp day she suffered excurded in the weather that on a damp day she suffered excurded in the weather that on a damp day she suffered excurded in the weather that on a damp day she suffered excurded in the weather that on a damp day she suffered excurded in the weather of the weather that on a farm had become so sensitive to the weather that on a damp day she suffered excurded in the weather of the weather that on a farm had become so sensitive to the weather that on a damp day she suffered excurded in the weather of the sufficiency of the weather that one had become so sensitive to the weather that on a farm had been affected with a painful chronic Rhemmatican for a long time, which baffled the skill of physicians, and stock to me in spite of all the remedies I could find, until I tried your Sarmaparilla. the Bones.

A great variety of cases have been reported to us where cures of these formidable complaints have resulted from the use of this remedy, but our space here will not admit them. Some of them may be found in our American Almanac, which the agents below named are pleased to furnish gratis to all who call for them. Dyspepsia, Heart Disease, Fits, Epilepsy, Melancholy, Neuralgia of the Disease.

This is a remedy so universally known to surpass any other for the cure of throat and lung complaints, that it is useless here to publish the evidence of its virtues. Its unrivalled excellence for coughs and colds, and its truly wonderful cures of pulmonary disease, have made it known throughout the civilized nations of the earth. Few are the communities, or even families, smoon them who have not some personal experience of its effects—some living trophy in their mists of its victory over the subtle and dangerous disorders of the throat and lungs. As all know the dreadful fatality of these disorders, and as they know, too, the effects of this remedy, we need not do more than to assure them that it has now all the virtues that it did have when making the cures which have won so strongly upon the confidence of mankind.
